

38.04.05 Business Informatics

Business Informatics for Digital Economy

Program objective:

formation of research, innovation-entrepreneurial and project competencies and deepening of professional competencies

Program foundational documents:

- state program "Digital Economy of the Russian Federation"
- strategy of the State Corporation ROSATOM leadership in the global market
- recommendations of the World CDIO Initiative

Competitive advantages:

- mastering the elements of engineering activities in accordance with the model “plan - design - produce - apply” in high-tech real systems, processes and products in the global market;
- development of information and analytical methods for analyzing the world atomic market; enterprise architecture and its IT strategy, engineering and reengineering of business processes of a modern high-tech enterprise.