

Photonics and Optical Informatics (12.04.03)

Microwave Photonics

Program objective:

to train qualified specialists for experimental research, industrial technologies and modeling of microwave photonics devices and systems.

Career opportunities

research, device design and engineering, modeling and technology in the fields of photonics, optoelectronics, microwave electronics; fundamental nanoscience, novel technological and measurement methods with application in electronics, photonics and material science.