2.3.5 "Mathematical and software support for computing systems, complexes and computer networks" (technical sciences)

Program objective:

Scientific studies in this program are carried out in various areas, such as Models, methods and algorithms for designing, analyzing, transforming, verifying and testing programs and software systems, Programming languages and programming systems, program semantics, Intelligent machine learning systems, database management and knowledge, digital product development tools, Quality assessment, standardization and maintenance of software systems.

Program partners:

АО «МЦСТ»/ MCST